I am a highly enthusiastic and soon-to-be certified junior full stack developer, eagerly seeking my first professional opportunity. My diverse background combines teaching, music technology, and communication, allowing me to bring a unique perspective to programming. As a self-taught individual, I am adept at working independently, yet I also possess excellent communication and collaboration skills when it comes to being a productive team member. Additionally, I have valuable experience working remotely, which further enhances my adaptability and efficiency.

Education:

2023

Full Stack Developer Bootcamp

I have a strong foundation in HTML5, CSS3, and JavaScript for web development. I am proficient in Git for version control and working with JSON data. I have experience building dynamic and responsive user interfaces using React, Bootstrap, and Tailwind. Additionally, I am skilled in TypeScript and Next.js for enhanced code scalability and server-side rendering. On the backend, I have expertise in Python, Flask, MySQL, and MongoDB for server-side development and database management. I am experienced in integrating APIs and implementing secure authorization/authentication. Overall, my diverse skill set allows me to create robust and scalable web applications.
